

GILLIAN MCIVER

SKILLS

Three things I'm great at: writing, appreciating art and travelling. I started the blog The Art Traveller over 15 years ago to document the exhibitions and art happenings I visit, all over the world as well as in the UK.

EXPERIENCE

Writer and Editor | Freelance | 2008-present

Aside from writing my own books, scripts and articles I edit work for other clients on a wide variety of subjects from history to business. I run writing workshops in London and Cairo and sometimes online.

Director | Creative City Ltd. | 2008-present

Co-founder of commissioning company, acting as consultant on many projects in the UK and abroad as well as developing and commissioning new work.

EDUCATION

PhD | Roehampton University

Art History and Cinema Studies, funded by the AHRC. Produced two conferences and a published book; contributed to several publications and conferences.

MA | University of Toronto

History and Art History

BA | University of British Columbia

History and English Hons.

OBJECTIVE

I'd love to bring my love of art and travel to a wider audience. I have travelled extensively in North America, Europe (including Russia) and the Middle East. I'm as familiar with holiday travelling as I am with business travel and nomad lifestyle.

OTHER EXPERIENCE

To date I have lived a fascinating and always interesting life of travel, unusual and challenging projects, meeting awe inspiring people and constantly defying norms.

I did a lot of academic teaching but have given that up now as I pursue more rewarding goals.
